

Florida Modern-Day Slavery Museum

Asbury Circle, Emory University

Thursday March 17, 8am-4pm

~Nine cases of modern-day slavery in Florida's fields since 1997~

~More than 1,100 workers liberated from forced labor~

The museum is a replica of the truck used in the 2008 U.S. v. Navarrete slavery operation. The museum's central focus is the phenomenon of modern-day slavery – its roots, the reasons it persists, and its solutions. Presented by the Coalition of Immokalee Workers, winner of the RFK Human Rights Award and the Anti-Slavery International Award.

Sponsored by: Center for Ethics, Latino Student Organization,
Department of African-American Studies

For more information:
lsoltis@emory.edu, (706) 372-4046