Who is GPB?

GPB is a knowledge hub where Georgians of all ages can access a variety of free and trusted platforms that encourage lifelong learning and collaboration. Our nine television stations serve Georgia and significant portions of surrounding states with PBS and locally produced programming. GPB's 22 station radio network provides Georgia news, along with NPR news and informational content. GPB is also Georgia's digital media content provider for the classroom, offering free, Georgia standards-aligned content across all subject areas for educators, students and families.

What Does GPB Stand For?

Vision: To unite and uplift Georgia

Mission: GPB works as a team to create diverse programming that enriches Georgians of all ages.

Values: These core principles and beliefs guide the work of GPB. Combined, they form the mnemonic device of CIVIC, which reminds us of the important service we provide to communities across the state.

Community

Drives all that we do. We value the GPB staff as a collective and our state as many we seek to unite as one.

Integrity

Underpins our trusted relationships with each other and with the work we produce for our stakeholders

Vision

Encourages creativity and innovation within our operation and through our programming.

Inclusion

Means we reflect diversity in our staff so we can reflect our state's diversity through our content.

Collaboration

Encourages us to solicit ideas across the organization and with our diverse stakeholders.

Internship project/job description (Please detail degree to which position is in-person, virtual, or hybrid.):

Georgia Public Broadcasting (GPB) is committed to fostering meaningful connections with communities across Georgia through the power of public media. As a Community Engagement Intern, you will play a key role in supporting initiatives that bring people together around locally relevant and nationally recognized content. This position offers hands-on experience in event planning, partnership development, and strategic communications designed to engage diverse audiences statewide.

Key Responsibilities

- Explore GPB's content pipeline to identify programming with strong local impact or audience interest.

- Support the coordination and delivery of community engagement activities—such as film screenings, panel discussions, and family-friendly events—both in-person and virtually.
- Research and connect with Georgia-based organizations and thought leaders to secure speakers and subject matter experts for events.
- Collaborate with the External Affairs team to craft and implement promotional strategies across multiple platforms, including broadcast, social media, digital, and print.
- Write engaging blog posts and digital content that showcase GPB events, partnerships, and community stories.
- Assist with event documentation and tracking in GPB's donor and engagement database.

Ideal Candidate Profile

We're looking for a creative, detail-oriented individual who thrives in a dynamic environment and is passionate about community impact. Projects may span diverse topics such as literacy and learning, arts and culture, health and wellness, civic engagement, family programming, and current affairs.

Qualifications:

- Strong research and writing skills
- Excellent verbal communication and interpersonal abilities
- Proficiency with Microsoft Office Suite or Google Workspace
- Ability to manage time effectively and think critically
- Self-starter with a collaborative mindset

Other requirements, if any, for this position (security check, drug screen, immunizations, etc.)? None

Will the internship require that the student have a car? No

Is placement site accessible by public transit or other transportation options?

Yes, the Arts Center Marta station is a $\frac{3}{4}$ mile walk, and the Georgia Tech shuttle has a drop off right outside the GPB building
